
Tim Wallace

Maps and Data Visualization at the New York Times

Ethnic Shifts

The change in the ethnic makeup along the New York City Marathon route.

Tim Wallace is a Graphics Editor at The New York Times and PhD candidate at the University of Wisconsin-Madison where he studies cartographic design & interaction in news media. He creates work for both the print and digital editions as part of the New York Times graphics department, a 40-person team of visual journalists that explain, illustrate and contextualize the news.

timwallace.info @wallacetim
www.Bostonography.com

datadesign.wordpress.com

Levine Hall
Room 307
3300 Walnut

Thursday
April 17
10.30-12

Presented jointly by the University of Pennsylvania's Department of Fine Arts, School of Design, and the Digital Media Design program, School of Engineering